III. PURPOSE

The Global Interdisciplinary Research and Publishing Collective (GIRPC) Journal is committed to maintaining the highest standards of integrity, transparency, and objectivity in scholarly publishing.

This Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form is intended to identify any financial, professional, institutional, personal, or other relationships that could reasonably be perceived as influencing the design, conduct, interpretation, or reporting of the submitted work.

Disclosure of a potential conflict of interest does not automatically prevent publication. Rather, it enables the Journal to evaluate the manuscript fairly and transparently while maintaining the confidence of readers and the scholarly community.

Authors are encouraged to disclose any relationship that could reasonably be viewed as relevant to the submitted manuscript. When in doubt, disclosure is encouraged.

IV. SCOPE AND TIME FRAME OF DISCLOSURE

In line with international disclosure standards, interests must be reported according to the following time frames:

- ☐ Work-related support. Any financial or material support directly related to the submitted work must be disclosed regardless of when it was received, covering the entire life span of the work from initial conception to publication.
- ☐ Broader interests. All other financial, professional, institutional, or personal relationships described in Sections VI–X must be disclosed if they existed at any point within the 36 months preceding the date of manuscript submission.
